

How does a good Manager become a great Leader?

- Through natural and learned skills
- Through observing others
- Through being open to learning

Our seminar is aimed at helping people to become great leaders through:

- Understanding the different styles of leadership
- Learning when and how the different styles can be used
- Understanding what emotional intelligence is – and how to improve their current level
- Strengthening their communication skills and then sharing a vision with their teams

This seminar is engaging, interactive and practical - delegates will leave with their own plans to become a better leader thereby generating increased turnover and retention within their teams.

Managers are often promoted on technical ability but rarely trained in people management.

Make sure this doesn't apply to your business – make your bookings today to guarantee your place on the day!

